About The Conference

The International Association of Crime Analysts (IACA) holds its training conference to provide training, technology and networking opportunities for law enforcement professionals, academia and practitioners world-wide. This year's conference is a joint conference with the Florida Crime and Intelligence Analysts Association (FCIAA).

The IACA/FCIAA conference is an excellent source for training on various analysis methods and techniques along with an array of specialty topics. Lecture and hands-on computer based training range in levels of beginning, intermediate and advanced.

This year we have added an additional component in the form of moderated round table discussions to stimulate the more advanced minds in the profession. Additionally, we are offering two computer labs for hands-on training with repeat session opportunities.

One plated luncheon event and several refreshment breaks are included with your registration and organized networking opportunities are planned.

Various vendors will be exhibiting on site during the conference to demo the latest and greatest in technology available to agencies and analysis units.
